Gabor named as a particularly family friendly company

Gabor Shoes AG, Rosenheim, was named as a particularly family friendly firm in its region with the “Family Lion”. Gabor won in the category for large companies with more than 100 employees.

The award ceremony attended by numerous representatives from the regional economy, the Chamber of Industry and Commerce and politics took place in beautiful surroundings at the host Marc O’Polo who won this award two years ago.

Gabor was one of a total of eight companies that had achieved it in the close vote. Crucial for the victory were the many and individual part-time models that make it particularly easier for mothers at Gabor to come back to a career, but can also be used to enable a smooth transition to retirement. The jury were also convinced by the consistent whole package, e.g. the outstanding training opportunities, health management, pleasant and air-conditioned workplaces or appealing break rooms.

Host Wolfgang Janhsen, Head of the Rosenheim Chamber of Industry and Commerce branch emphasised in his speech that responsibility, society and health were a priority at Gabor. With around 70 part-time models tailored specially to the requirements of the employees, the company looks after every individual. In addition, there are training programmes for people who would have otherwise fallen through the social net, said Janhsen. “Basic approaches that open people up to new ideas and perspectives.”
